

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An antenna device having an antenna to be mounted on the body side of a vehicle for receiving a radio signal from a tire condition detection device mounted on a tire side, or giving and receiving a radio signal between the tire condition detection device and a device mounted on the vehicle body side. The antenna device includes attachment means with which the antenna can be temporarily attached, moved and securely attached to the vehicle body side.